Sawdey-Sawdey Nuptials the Culmination of a Romance.

The marriage last night at Centener ist Church of Earl F. Sawdey of Methodist Church of Earl F. Sawdey of No. 14th Olive street and Miss Minnis Sawdey of No. 186 Washington avenue was the result of a search made by Mr. Sawdey last year for information concerning the history of his family. At the time Mr. Sawdey begun his work compiling a family history, he was a resident of San Francisco, Cal., and Miss Sawdey was living at Denver, Colo. They had never heard of each other. In his work Mr. Sawdey went to the home of his distant relative in Denver to get some papers which were in the possession of that branch of the family. The two cousins met and promptly fell in love with each other. They discovered that their great-grandfathers were brothers. Soon after his visit to the cousin's home in Denver Mr. Sawdey came to St. Louis, but kept up a correspondence with her. A few weeks ago Miss Sawdey came to St. Louis to see the World's Fair and the marriage last night is the result.

CANAL PROPELLER NIAGARA ARRIVES

Brings First Boatload of Merchandise Delivered From Chicago in Five Years.

REVIVAL OF RIVER TRADE.

Line of Like Boats and Barges Are Expected to Ply Regularly Between the Fair City and Lake Michigan.

The canal propeller Niagara arrived in St. Louis yesterday from Chicago with 6,000 boxes of medicines, brought here for a Chicago firm to be distributed by rail through the West and South. She will return in a few days and her owner, William Wallace of Chicago, proprietor of three other boats of the same kind. is said to have completed arrangements for making one trip each way every week between Chicago and St. Louist Mr. Wallace and others in Chicago said to be interested in the movement, are planning a renewal of the old canal and river trade between St. Louis and Chicago, Harry Todd and Alfred Vognild, both Chicago business men, are now in St. Louis trying to interest mercantile firms in the undertaking.

It is planned to make St. Louis a distributing point for all goods brought down in the canal boats and barges from Chicago. The Chicago boats will ply be-tween St. Louis and Chicago only. This freight will be shipped by St. Louis boats and by rail to all points in the South and Mike Cowan, captain of the Niagara, mid yesterday that the boat will carry ns of merchandise herself, and she can manage two or three barges, each having a capacity of 175 tons.

The trip from Chicago was made in seven days. It would have been made in five days but for trouble encountered in the canal. At one time the boat ran aground, and was delayed nearly a day. It is claimed that the improvements that are now planned for the drainage canal and the Illinois River will enable the boats to carry full loads each way, and to make better time on the trips than they were able to make several years ago, when most of the shipping business between Chicago and St. Louis was through tween Chicago and St. Louis was through this channel.

It is the claim of rivermen that the boats can carry freight from Chicago to St. Louis much more cheaply than it can be carried by rail, since the canal propellers can be managed with very small crews. It requires but three or four men to take care of a boat and two or three barges, which carry 500 or 700 tons of freight.

The Niagara's owner operates a fleet of burges in the Chicago grain trade. When the river trade was good he ran his boats to St. Louis, the Niagara making the last trip five years ago. Previous to that time the canal boats piled regularly between the two points and carried heavy freights each way. The increase of railroad facilities and the obstacles which were offered to navigation in the Chicago drainage canal and the Illinois River led to the abandonment of the trade.

River Channel and Dock Company.

The latter was organized six years ago by a syndicate headed by the late Abner Taylor and former Senator C. B. Farwell, both of Chicago. The bonds were handled by the trust company named, and sold widely throughout the country. Hundreds of thousands were spent in improving the river and laying out a new seaport. The boom was one of the greatest that ever struck Texas. Thousands of people became financially interested and then the bottom dropped out. The action of to-day is an effort to save some of the wreckage.
